Business Name Update Regarding Laboratory Licensures and Accreditations

This notice is to inform you that our name change to Labcorp is completed as of 25-June-2021.

As we transition our accreditation certificates to our new branding and name, we will be phasing out the current certificates that have the Covance name and logo.

Please note, as shared previously, this change is simply a corporate name change as part of the branding changes. There has been no transfer of ownership interests or assets and all tax and corporate identification numbers are expected to remain the same. Laboratory licensure numbers will remain the same and the licensures will remain effective as they currently exist. Laboratory accreditation programs are a continual process. All laboratories remain accredited until otherwise notified. New accreditation certificates will be uploaded to this website within the next few months.
